KITTY.

Kneeling by the stream, I saw
Kate, the farmer's daughter,
Drinking—in her rosy palm
Dipping up the water.

She had thrown her hat aside.
Bare were arm and shoulder;
Each unconscious charm displayed;
Made my love the bolder.

So I slowly, tenderly,
Went and knelt beside her;
Drank with her from out the stream,
Blushing Kitty Ryder.

Also I said, "The poet tells us
Life is like a river;
Shall we not its waters sweet,
Always drink together?"

Many years have passed us by,
Like the flowing water;
But I drink life's stream to-day
With Kate, the farmer's daughter.

The Wanderer's Prayer.

On a cold dreary evening in autumn, a small boy, poorly clad, yet clean and tidy, with a pack upon his back, knocked at the door of an old Quaker, in the town of —— and inquired, "Is Mr. Lanman at home?"

"Yes."

The boy wished to see him, and was speedily ushered into the hosts presence.

Friend Lanman was one of the wealthiest men in the county, and President of the railroad. The boy had come to see if he could obtain a situation on the road. He said that he was an orphan—his mother had been dead only two months, and he was a homeless wanderer. But the lad was too small for the filling of any place within the Quaker's gift and he was forced to deny him, still he liked the looks of the boy, and said to him:

"Thee may stop in my house to night, and on the morrow I will give thee the names of two good men in Philadelphia, to whom thee may apply with assurance of a kind reception, at least. I am sorry that I have no employment for thee."

Later in the evening the old Quaker went the rounds of his spacious mansion, lantern in hand, as was his wont, to see that all was safe, before retiring for the night. As he passed the door of the little chamber where the poor wandering orphan had been placed to sleep, he heard a voice. He stooped and listened, and distinguished the tones of simple earnest prayer. He bent his ear nearer, and heard these words from the boy's lips:

"Good Father in heaven! help me to help myself. Watch over me as I watch over my own conduct, and care for me as my deeds merit! Bless the good man in whose house I am sheltered for the night, and spare him long, that he may continue his bounty to other suffering ones.—Amen."

And the Quaker responded another amen as he moved on; and as he went he meditated. The boy had a true idea of the duties of life, and possessed a warm, grateful heart.

"I verily think that the lad will be a treasure to his employer," was the concluding reflection.

When the morning came the old Quaker changed his mind concerning his answer to the boy's application.

"Who learned thee to pray?" inquired Friend L.

"My mother, sir," was the soft reply And the soft brown eyes grew moist.

And thee will not forget thy mother's counsel?"

"I cannot, for I know that my success in life is dependent upon them."

"My boy, thee may stay here in my house, and very soon I will take thee to my office. Go now and get thy breakfast."

Friend L. was gathered to the spirit harvest shortly after the breaking out of the war of the rebellion; but he lived to see the poor boy he had adopted rise step by step until he finally assumed the responsible office which the failing guardian could no longer hold. And to-day there is no man more honored and respected by his friends, and none more feared by gamblers and speculators in irresponsible stock than is the once poor wanderer—now President of the best managed and most productive railway in the United States.

Honest Labor.—Labor, honest labor, is right and beautiful. Activity is the ruling element of life, and its highest relish Luxuries and conquest are the result of labor—we can imagine nothing without it. The noblest man of earth is he who puts his hands cheerfully and proudly to honest labor. Labor is a business and an ordinance of God. Suspend labor, and where are the glory and pomp of earth, the fruits of the fields, the palaces and fashionings of matter, for which men strive and war? Let the labor scoffer look around him, look at himself, and learn what are the trophies of toil. From the crown of his head to the sole of his foot, unless he is a Carib, made as the beast, he is the debtor and slave of toil. The labor which he scorns has tracked him into the stature and appearance of a man. Where does he get his garments and equipage? Let labor answer. Labor makes muscle in the mine, in the furrow, at the forge.

The British Museum has two specimens of a mammoth crab which flourishes in Japanese waters. They measure ten feet between the tips of the claws, and the jaws themselves are six feet in length.

From the 4th of April, 5,000 persons left Germany for England and the United States.

A Woman's Reply.

A certain young woman named Hannah,
Slipped down on a piece of banana;
She shrieked and oh, my'ld!
And more stars she spied
Than belonged to the star spangled banner.

A gentleman sprang to assist her,
And picked up her muff and wristlet;
"Did you fall, ma'am?" he asked her;
"Do you think," she replied,
"I sat down for the fun of it, mister?"

Thoughts for Talkers.

There are proper times for talking, as well as proper themes for it. Men should take care not to talk much when their mouths are full, or when their heads are empty. In the former case they nauseate, in the latter case they bore. Unless a man has something sensible to say, he had certainly better be contented without saying it. A good listener is as hard to find as a good talker, and yet the knack of listening is easy of attainment. If one only can contrive to get the credit of actually doing so.

When a company of talkers are thundering away, their thunder ought to be attended by a brilliant flash of silence on the part of some good listeners. Conversation, when all talk, is noise, not conversation. When ladies talk together, their tongues move all at once, and no one ever stops to listen. This is why among themselves, ladies talk such utter nonsense. But ladies can talk sense when they have men of sense to talk to, for then they take the trouble to say something worth answering. If every one keeps talking, nobody takes heed of what anybody says, and nobody is, therefore, any wiser for their saying it.

Remember, when you talk that very often listening pleases more than talking. By listening to a man you pay him a great compliment, for you delicately indicate that what he says is worth your hearing. Moreover, though by listening you may hear unpleasant things, the occupation often saves you from the chance of saying them. In short, though it may seem anomalous to say it, one of the greatest charms of talking is to hold one's tongue well. The man who holds his tongue in course of conversation, will often give more pleasure than the man who merely uses it.

Wedded Love—A True Incident.

"Make the bed easy, Mr. B.," said old Uncle Abe to the undertaker who was preparing a coffin for his wife. "Make the bed soft and easy, for her old bones are tender and soft, and a hard bed will hurt them."

He forgot for a moment—that old, gray-haired man—that she was dead, that the old bones had done aching forever. Sixty-four years had she walked by his side, a true and loving wife. Sixty-four years! Just think of it in this age of divorce. Sixty-four years had they dwelt under the same sorrows of life; together rejoiced in the prosperity of their sons and daughters, and now she has left him alone.

No wonder he forgot. Her loving hands had so long cared for him, for he had been the feebler of the two. "Until death do us part," said the marriage service that had united them so many years ago. Death had parted them, but the love still survived. Tenderly had he cared for her all these years, and now tenderly did he watch the making of the last bed of this still loved wife. He had bravely faced the storm of life with her by his side, but now that she was gone he could not live, and in a few days they laid him by her side.—New Orleans Picayune.

Fish Story.—He came down to breakfast one morning, and in a moment it was seen that a cloud was on his brow. There sat the lady-like wife waiting for him; and the table fairly groaned, not with plated silver but with solid material. The cloth was white as snow; the family were seated around in pleasant expectancy; every thing smoking hot, and not an article there but even a pampered appetite could revel on. But the man's favorite dish was not there. Closer he came to the table, and with the inquiry, "Did you not know that I wanted a shad for breakfast?" he raised his foot and overturned the whole table on the floor.

"It was at the fire being kept warm for you," replied his noble wife in her quiet, lady-like and conquering way.

In an instant the haughty husband comprehended the situation; the next he was on his knees exclaiming, "Dear wife, you are nothing less than angel born."

Not a great while after that he died. His will was opened; his wife was executrix: he he left her all the had—$2,000,000.

It is proposed to abolish fast day in Scotland, because they have come to mean feast days, so far as getting drunk goes. The London Lancet is of the opinion that there is too little fasting nowadays among strong, comfortable people, who make themselves too comfortable, and eat and drink in excess of both want and work, and points out that a fast is desirable from a medicinal as as well as a religious point of view.

Mr. R. Selley, of Bethel, Conn., now seventy-two years old, and who has been blind for fifty-eight years, began to make molasses candy when he lost his sight, and now owns five houses, one store, a coal yard, eleven acres of land, and a lovely stable, which represent the profits of his sales of candy, which a began to make with one pint of molasses.

COUNTY GOVERNMENTS.

The Assembly has passed the County Government bill. It classifies the counties into ten classes. Mono is in the tenth with Alpine and Del Norte. Each county is to have a Board of Supervisors, consisting of from three to seven members, the Mono class to have three. The Supervisors shall have power to "fix the compensation of all county and township officers not otherwise paid, including or excluding the payment of all clerks or deputies, and if excluded shall fix the compensation of such deputies or clerks in proportion to the duties of such officers, and shall provide for the payment of the same by establishing a salary Fund for that purpose; and also to establish such other county funds as they may deem necessary for the proper transaction of the business of the county."

The successors of all county officers (except judicial officers and School Superintendent) who were elected in the year 1879, under general or special laws, for two years, shall be elected at the general election to be held in the year 1880 and shall take office on the first Monday in March, 1881,; and all county officers (except judicial officers) who were elected in the year 1879 for four years, shall hold office until the first Monday in March, 1883. At the general election to be held in 1882 and at the general election to be held every four years thereafter, all county officers (except judicial officers) shall be elected and hold office four years from and after the first Monday of March next succeeding their election. Superior Judges shall be elected at the general election in 1884 and at the general election to be held every six years thereafter. Township officers shall be elected at the generel election in 1880 and every two years thereafter.

The officers of a township are at least one Justice and one Constable; provided, that in any county, when, in the opinion of the Board of Supervisors, the public convenience requires it, the said Board may provide that two Justices and two Constables shall be elected for any township, designating the township. The Board of Supervisors of each county, on or before the first Monday in September, 1880, and thereafter as public convenience shall require, shall divide their respective counties into townships for the purpose of electing Justices of the Peace and Constables; and such townships shall be known as judicial townships.

The Surveyor, Coroner, Justices and Constables receive fees and commissions in full payment for all services rendered. The Supervisors shall receive five dollars a day while in session, and twenty cents a mile in traveling to and from his residence to the county seat, and only one trip for any one term shall be charged, and provided that such per diem and mileage shall not exceed the sum of $800 a year for any one Supervisor.

The officers of a county, excepting in a few counties, that are allowed more than one Superior Judge, are as follows: A Superior Judge, Treasurer, County Clerk, Auditor, Sheriff, Tax Collector, District Attorney, Recorder, Assessor, Surveyor, Coroner, School Superintendent; the members of a Board of Supervisors, provided, that the Board of Supervisors may, by proper ordinance, consolidate or unite the duties of two or more offices in one.

The action of the Legislature, in placing Mono county in the smallest class of counties, ranking it with Alpine and Del Norte counties, is not calculated to flatter the pride of the average Bodieite, who thinks that his mountain stamping ground is second to no place on the Pacific Slope. It was inconsistent in it to pass a general law giving certain counties two or more Judges, and then passing a special law to give this county two. It will be seen that this law makes the terms of the county officers to be elected next Fall, four years. This will make the offices worth going for, and the canvass a lively one.

A FIELD BOOM.—There is a prospect of there being a Field boom for the Democratic nomination for President. Such a nomination might be pleasing to the friends of the Chinamen in the Eastern States, but a more distasteful nomination, could not be made for the Pacific Coast Democrats to support. It is more than probable that Blaine will be the Republican nominee, and in that case, the Democrats might as well nominate Field, as a better man, for no one can defeat Jim Blaine, if he get the nomination.

Ex-Governor Garcelon of Maine recently returned to the State Treasurer $925, with the statement that it was "the unexpended balance of money placed in his hands for public purposes"—the public purposes having been the carrying out of the plot to steal the Government of the State.

It is admitted by the New York Democratic leaders that nothing remains but rival State conventions and a dual Democratic delegation to Cincinnati. Thurlow Weed and Hugh Hastings say the fight will give the Republicans the State beyond doubt.

The ice pinnacle under Yosemite Fall this winter became a tower of over 600 feet in hight, but latterly it has been slowly decreasing, because of the change in temperature in the water falling upon it.

The literary people of San Jose claim that their town is the Athens of the Pacific coast.

A BIG HUNT.—Captain Joseph Clark, proprietor of the whale fishery near San Simeon, has furnished us with the following items of interest: They have captured the present season some twenty or thirty whales. Several weeks since he struck an immense "right" whale; after making fast to the monster some twenty bombs were fired into him. In the meantime the party found they were being towed out to sea at an astonishing rate of speed, and when about thirteen miles from shore the leviathan turned upon his pursuers and smashed the boats one after another as fast as he could get at them, causing the men to jump overboard and swim for dear life to the remaining boat, which had been cut loose from the whale, and was their only chance of escape. The monster was not secured, but Captain Clark thinks there can be no possible doubt of the deadly missiles having done their work, and he was at latest accounts watching the beach for miles in hope that the hulk would drift ashore. The Captain estimates the value of this whale, in oil and bone, at no less than $3,000.—San Luis Obispo Advocate.

There is a proposition that the Knights Templar, who are to go East, shall have their ten days' drill on the flat at the head of Lake Donner.

April 1st the open season for trout-fishing began and will continue until the 1st of November—seven months.

The Healdsburg hoodlum-bell now rings at 9 o'clock every night. Then the hoodlums must seek their little banks.

THE CHRONICLE.

BODIE, APRIL 16, 1880.

The CHRONICLE Office is on the second floor of "Goodson's Building," east side of Main street, between Standard Avenue and Green street.

JOB PRINTING.—Job printing of the finest description will be furnished at this office at Sacramento prices.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

ARRIVALS TO-DAY.

DEPARTURES TO-DAY.

R. Jones, M. Hutchins, W. H. Brenham, B B. Ravenel.

POOR JOURNALISM.—We presume one may hunt the world over and not find such a style of journalism as is exhibited by our evening cotemporary. Running about hrlf the matter the CHRONICLE does, yet devotes considerable of to us. It picks out typographical errors and comments on them at length, and this is of no interest to the general reader, It is jubilant that it is issued a couple of hours earlier than we;—that there is nothing in it, to. If we are behind it on time, we have the satisfaction of knowing that we do our own press work, and on a hand-press that is paid for. Probably if we would ape our cotemporary we would buy a power-press on credit, mortgage it, and have a keeper in our office But if there is nothing "in it," why does it copy, what few locals it has, from us? It has a right to, and we do not complain, only we don't like to see it make a damphool of itsels. However, if what we hear is true, there will soon be a general boosting from the chairs in that office. We advise it to look to its own proof, and give its neighbors a "rest."

NOTARIES.—We find the following in the proceedings of the Senate on Tuesday last:

Assembly Bill No. 130.—An Act to amend Section 791 of the Political Code, approved March 18, 1878, relating to Notaries Public (by Mr. Wasson of Mono.)

Committee amendment adopted and bill passed finally—ayes 29, noes 0.

Assembly Bill No. 257—An Act to provide an additional Judge of the Superior Court for the county of Mono (by Mr. Wasson)—was passed; ayes 28, noes 6.

OF COURSE.—Our evening cotemporary last night said:

"As the Standard predicted, the squabble over who should receive the appointment in case the bill providing for an additional Superior Judge was passed, has had the effect of making the Senate view the measure with suspicion."

This was on Thursday, and yet on Tuesday the Senate passed the bill with only 6 votes against it. Six out of 30 looks like "suspicion."

HIDE YOUR HEADS.—The Bodieites might as well hide their heads. The Legislature has put Mono at the tail of the counties, With Alpine, Del Norte and Mono, the tenth, the lowest, class is formed. And all this in the face of an avalanche of telegrams. God save the mark!

FINE CONFECTIONARY.—Mrs. Swan has opened a confectionary store in Abbot's building on Main street, between Standard Avenue and Mill street. She intends to keep a fresh supply at all times at reasonable prices.

JUST RECEIVED.—Choice, Creamy Butter in rolls, from one of the best California dairies at Point Reyes. For sale by Page, Wheaton & Co., dealer in choice family groceries.

FINED.—John Doe was to-day fined by Justice Newman $25 for firing a pistol. The fine was paid.

BLACKMAIL.—The attack of the Standard on W. B. Carr looks much like a blackmail scheme, but Billy will not tumble to it.

SNOW.—About six inches of snow fell last night, and it is fast melting.

TIOGA CON.

C. H. Golding, Supt.

Our east crosscut 300 foot level was extended 12 feet during the past week. The face has been in hard blasting porphyry since last report. The west crosscut, same level, had 19 feet added to its length. This drift shows an entire and very favorable change of formation. We cut a stratum of quartz about 8 inches wide on the 13th inst. and the face of the drift has since been in block porphyry, mixed with clay, such as is generally found adjacent to all valuable ledges discovered in this section. We have timbered the Syndicate drift 250 feet, leaving 350 feet more to be timbered. Our water has decreased to about 2500 gallons per day. We are now constructing a tank for the purpose of settling the water from the mine, so that it can be used in our boilers after the snow is gone. This will greatly reduce that important item of expense.

SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE.—We are pleased to acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the history of the Chronicle. It is handsomely gotten up on tinted paper, finely illustrated and bound. This is another substantial evidence of the prosperity of that wide-awake and popular journal.

The Stockton Herald says the whole Presidential problem is reduced to the simple proposition of a "Democrat for four years or Grant for life." Well, if that is so, adds the stalwart Calaveras Chronicle, of the two evils we will choose the least—take Grant for life.

THE BODIE EXTENSION.

The corps of engineers and surveyors who have for the past two months been actively engaged in the arduous work of breaking a pathway for the iron horse, between Mound House and Bodie, have at last completed their important labors, and we are now enabled to present our readers with the first complete and reliable report of the proposed line of the new road, as indicated by the elaborate survey just completed. We desire to state at the outset that this account, though not derived from official sources, will be found correct and accurate in every particular. The proposed "Bodie Extension," (as it has been named) of the Virginia & Truckee Railroad involves the building of a road nearly twice as long as the Company's main line, and if the project is carried through, as we believe it speedily will, the branch will have the peculiar honor of far exceeding in length the parent road.

The starting point will be Mound House, a station midway between Carson and Virginia, eleven miles from either point. The line will run to Dayton, six miles, passing for a distance of two miles through Dana canon, and will go directly through the town, thence three miles to Sutro, skirting that town on the east. From Sutro the road runs through the Carson Valley, a distance of seven miles, to the Divide between the valley and what is known as the 27-mile desert. Thence east nine miles to the Carson River. The river will be spanned by a bridge three hundred feet long, without allowing for necessary embankments and approaches, which will increase its actual length from fifty to one hundred feet more. The line then follows the Carson river on the south side a distance of three miles to Churchill Canon.

At this point a turn is made and the route follows a southerly direction for ten miles. The country passed over so far is principally of a sand, sage brush character, with but few small cuts required; the largest will be a twelve foot cut, seven miles from Sutro. The north edge of

MASON'S VALLEY

Has now been reached. Here is a stage station at Wabuska bearing the pleasant title of "Stinking wells," so called from the sulphurous character of its water. Another switch off is here made in a direction due east. Six miles further on the Walker river is reached and will be crossed by a bridge of 150 feet span. Three miles further and the road arrives at the line of the Indian Reservation, there its direction is changed to a little east of south, and eighteen miles further the Walker river again comes in the way. At this point, which is about three miles from the head of the lake, another 150 foot bridge will be constructed. Five miles distant the northeast corner of Walker Lake is reached. Thence the road will follow along the east side of the lake, a distance of twenty-five miles to its southeastern extremity, where the road will terminate. Contrary to general impression the road will run along the eastern shores; saving the necessity of steamboat connection. From its initial point, Mound House, to its terminus the distance is about 96 miles. From its ending at the southeast extremity of the lake, excellent roads leads to Bodie, Candelaria, Columbus and Belleville, each one of those important centers of mining industry being distant but some fifty miles. Giantsville is about 35 miles distant, and New Boston 20 miles. The road will naturally secure the entire Mason's Valley trade. Mason's Valley is about 24 miles long and is now the principal source of hay supply to Bodie and the adjacent sections. Alfalfa is mainly raised. It is also likely that some trade will be secured from Smith's Valley, though it is separated from direct connection by a range of mountains. The entire cost of this extensive enterprise will not be less that two millions of dollars from Mound House to Dayton the grade will be 116 feet to the mile, but for the rest of the distance the grades are light and the country passed over is mostly flat. One stretch of ten miles across the head of Mason Valley is nearly a dead level. Across the twenty-Seven-mile Desert the road for four miles and a half will be absolutely level, not varying three inches to the mile either way. The finest land on the entire route is in Churchill canon. All that is necessary is to utilize water from Walker river and it will blossom like the rose. It is the common belief that the land is up-hill from the river, rendering if difficult of irrigation, but this, we have good reason to believe, is a mistake. The sagebrush in this remarkable canon grows to a height of twelve feet, and has more the appearance of trees than the usual stunted bushes which we are familiar with. This speaks well for the natural fertility of the soil. Fifteen miles east of Sutro and one mile this side of the Carson river Whitman canon is passed Through this canon a road can readily be built ten miles south, giving direct connection with the promising mining camp of Como. The building of this extensive line of rail cannot but result in very marked and beneficial effect on Bodie, Carson and general business interests in Nevada. A large force of iron-workers, carpenters and laborers will necessarily be employed and its building will do much toward releiving the present stagnation.—Carson Times.

On Tuesday last Senator Farley presented a memorial, numerously signed by citizens of Mono county, Cal., and Esmeralda county, Nev., protesting against the passage of the Public Land Commissioner's bill, which proposes a radical change in the mining laws.

The Pietet Ice Machine is in successful operation in Sacramento. The ice is more solid than that frozen by natural means, equally pure, and is molded into blocks convenient for the general purchaser, thereby preventing the waste that is usually caused by the process of cutting and sawing natural ice.
